Yesterday was Arbor day in the public schools and appropriate exercises were held.

The steam schooner Bee is loading lumber for San Francisco at the Tongue Point mill.

A new invoice of Eastman's celebrated Kodaks and supplies received at the Owl drug store.

The steamer Columbia arrived in from San Francisco yesterday with freight and passengers.

Tillamook county will soon commence the construction of a new court house to cost about $20,000.

E. A. Taylor is having a new bulk head built around his property at the corner of Fifteenth and Duane.

We have all kinds of Cheese and the best of each kind.

FOARD & STOKES CO.

The ship St. Nicholas with cannery supplies and a number of Astorians will leave this afternoon for Nushagak, Alaska.

The last school census gives Seaside 200 children, an increase of about 70 in the past year. No race suicide at Seaside.

W. J. Hess has opened the cleanest and best appointed restaurant in Astoria at 120 Eleventh street. The best the market, and the promptest service.

The Occident tansorial parlors and bath facilities are equalled by none. Everything modern and up to date. See Peterson.

Rev. Dr. Toy and Mr. Dickson are expected in Astoria in a few days when another series of revival meetings will be held.

There is nothing nicer for breakfast than George's Eastern Codfish. It cooks white and tender.

Pat Kenney returned yesterday from his hunting preserve on Clatsop plains, bringing home two geese. He says the price of geese is higher this year than last.

Andrew Hannula, who was examined for his insanity before the board was discharged. He has been acting peculiar of late, but is attributed more to bodily illness than mental infirmity.

A tallow candle will be found to be convenient in locating some of the electric lights used in the city. A person hates to butt up against one in the dark, not knowing that it is lighted.

In the probate court yesterday afternoon the administrator of the estate of Fred Wickman deceased filed his final account and the hearing was set for May 22.

R. M. Gaston carries a full and complete line of wagons, buggies, plows, harrows and all kinds of farm tools and machinery at 105 Fourteenth street, Astoria, Ore.

A number of the members of the Finnish Brotherhood went to Portland yesterday to bring Jack Wilson, who was stricken with paralysis to Astoria where he can be among friends.

The Oregon Development League will hold its annual session in Portland on April 26 and 27. Its membership is composed of delegates from the various commercial organizations of the state.

The regular Saturday five-cent matinee will take place at the Star this afternoon. The performance is particularly interesting to the young people and the house will not doubt be crowded.

The library cannot buy new books without money, but new books, it must have. Help the good cause by buying a ticket for the concert April 24 at Fishers' opera house. Reserved seats will be for sale soon.

Admiral Kempff, U. S. A., arrived in Astoria yesterday, accompanied by Inspectors Edwards and Fuller. They inspected all the boats registered at Astoria. The result of the investigation will be submitted to the department at Washington.

The funeral of the late David Morgan was held yesterday morning from his late residence on Jerome avenue. The services were conducted by Rev. Wm. S. Short, and under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. The interment was at Ocean View.

The county attorney of Wahkiakum county has been instructed to bring suit against the Callender Navigation Company for the sum of $140.48 for damages done by the steamer Melville to the Alger slough bridge, if the company refuses to pay the damages now claimed.

Very few, if any Sacramento fishermen have arrived in Astoria this year, although it is reported that a few license have been granted. The men will be watched and if found fishing, license or no license, they will be arrested and prosecuted on a charge of perjury.

The Commercial Club of Hood River has raised $800 to make an exhibit of its resources and advertise its location at the Lewis and Clark fair. Hood River is a town of about 1000 population. Astoria has a population of 14 times as many, and no one who visits the fair will know that it is on the map.

The Flag Oyster and Chop House has just been opened under competent management. It is conveniently situated opposite the depot, thus affording the traveling public a handy eating place before leaving the city or immediately upon arrival. The advertisement of this firm appears in another column of this paper.

The funeral of the late Albin Palmberg will be held this afternoon at Pohl's undertaking parlors at 2 o'clock under the auspices of the Astoria lodge of Elks. The funeral sermon will be preached by Rev. A. G. E. Rydquist. The interment will be at Greenwood. Mr. Palmberg was a member of the Skagway lodge of Elks.

It is reported that an injunction will be applied for to restrain the owners of property on Bridge street at Seaside from extending their new building out on the street. By so doing the street is ruined and all that remains of it is an alley. Considerable indignation is manifest among the people of that town.

Astor lodge, Knights of Pythias, has changed its meeting nights from Wednesday to Friday night of each week. The lodge is growing in membership and the meetings are well attended. W. A. Sherman will soon organize the uniform rank, which at one time was the best drilled in the state and took the prize at the convention at The Dalles.

The spring fishing season on the Columbia river will open at noon today. It is reported that a number of boats went down to the bar last evening and several good catches are reported. The patrol boat was out during the evening and will probably be out until noon today. While large catches are usual the first day it is too early to state what the run will be.

The funeral of the late Samuel H. Madlock was held yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock from the Grace Episcopal church. The members of Astoria lodge B. P. O. Elks assembled at their hall at 4:30 and marched to the church. Rev. Wm. Seymore Short preached the funeral sermon, paying a glowing tribute to the deceased. After the services the remains were taken to the depot and sent to Portland, where they will be cremated.

One lone drunk appeared on the mourner's bench at the police court yesterday. He was creating a disturbance in the bad lands and gave the officers considerable trouble in handling him. He whooped and yelled all the way to the jail and some people thought some one was being murdered. The only way to break such people of such disgraceful conduct is to fine them the limit and make them sweat it out in jail. They won't be arrested very often in that case.

Mrs. Sarah Ross received a telegram last evening conveying the welcome news that her son, Dr. Thomas Ross, had successfully passed the examination at the Portland Medical college and is now a full-fledged M. D. The diplomas will be awarded Monday. Dr. Ross will then come to Astoria and remain during the summer and in September will take a course in the Columbia college of New York city. Mrs. Ross is deservedly proud of the achievements of her son and received the congratulations of her many friends.
